SPECIFICATION & COLOUR VARIANCE

Our products are fabricated to maintain close dimensional tolerances that may vary slightly; normally +/-1/8", occasionally more. In most cases, this slight variation does not affect installation or function. We recommend that you measure your actual product when it arrives before you rough-in cabinetry or plumbing. We can not be held responsible by the end user if this guideline is not followed. We reserve the right to make revisions without prior notice to specifications.

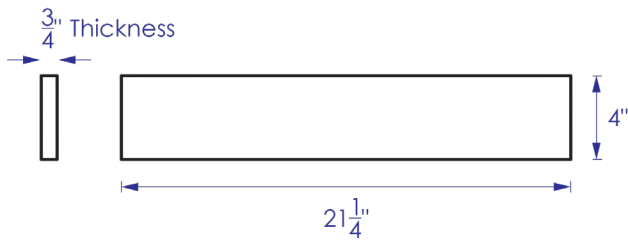

Variations in quartz veining, blemishes, markings or any inconsistencies in the colour are considered naturally occurring variations which are not within our control nor considered a reflection of quality or defects under the warranty. Please feel free to email us with any questions or comments.
